President's Message

Dear CCU Life Family,

We continue to grow in insurance sales, but it doesn't hurt to remind all of our members to continue to promote the CCU and encourage all family members and friends to join this wonderful organization.

Most of our members have received the 2019 Promo and I encourage all of you to take this wonderful opportunity to either increase your life insurance or open an annuity at a very competitive rate.

By the time you get your 'Posel' I would have submitted the 2nd Quarter's financials to the NAIC, and we are pleased that we submitted this financial with positive results.

Fraternally,
Theresa Aveni
President

CZECH KNOWLEDGE

Male ryby taky ryby - Even small fish are fish

Czechs have a knack for appreciating the small things in life, perhaps something left over from difficult times under Communist rule. This expression means that even the smaller successes should be celebrated, as they are still successes, no matter how tiny.

Biography of Antoni Dvorak

By Louis Matusik, Jr.

Born on September 8, 1841 in the small Bohemian Village of Nelahozeves, Antonin Dvorak was to become one of the world's most popular composers. His mother, Anna Zdenek was a servant at the nearby Lobkowitz Palace before her marriage to Franz Dvorak. Antonin was the oldest of eight children. His father, an innkeeper, had hopes that his son would grow up to be a wealthy tradesman. Listening to concerts by traveling gypsy bands and to the village people singing their folk songs, influenced the young boy so that his only interests became music. He learned to play the violin and soon visitors to his fathers inn were entertained by happy dance tunes and sad folk melodies.

At the age of fourteen, Dvorak was sent to the nearby town of Zlonice to live with his uncle in the hopes that he would become interested in learning a trade. His father still believed that music was a fine pastime, but not an occupation. A music teacher, Anton Liehmann, recognized Dvorak's unusual talent and taught him the piano, organ and viola. For two years the boy worked and studied and played in Zlonice, sometimes even composing tunes for the town orchestra. Dvorak was furnished funds to go to Prague and further his musical studies by his uncle who provided the support despite the father's opposition. At the age of sixteen, Antonin entered the Organ School in Prague and made fine progress. After a time the money that had been coming from Zlonice stopped and he was barely able to earn enough to clothe and feed himself. Still he continued his studies at the Organ School, sometimes missing meals, but always learning. After completing his studies he worked in the orchestra of the National Theatre in Prague for eleven years. The pay was low, but Dvorak was content to improve and perfect his musical skills. A great influence at the time was the composer Bedrich Smetana, who was the conductor at the National Theatre. Dvorak's personal contact with Smetana directed his ambitions towards writing Bohemian national music.

In 1873 Dvorak became organist at St. Adelbert Church and soon after that married Anna Cermakova. He now entered a period of great creative activity, producing many orchestral and chamber music works. The best of these were derived from Bohemian folk tunes. He submitted one of these to the Austrian State Music Commission and was awarded a state salary of $250.00 a year. One of the most famous musicians in Vienna, at this time was Johannes Brahms who used his fame and influence to persuade publishers to issue Dvorak's music. He provided Dvorak with funds and obtained a commission for him to write a set of Slavonic Dances along the style of Brahms Hungarian Dances. These brought Dvorak very little income, but they made him famous throughout Europe by their popularity. Dvorak was overwhelmed with offers to conduct his works and now finally became financially successful. He bought a pleasant summer home in the forest of Vysocka where he retreated for several months each year. He was happiest when he was there, taking long solitary walks in the Bohemian forests he loved so deeply. His great fame brought him offers to become director and teacher at the National Conservatory of Music in New York and he came there in 1892. He suffered from homesickness in New York so he spent his summers in Spillville, Iowa, a town populated by Bohemian immigrants. Here he could speak his native tongue, play Bohemian songs on the church organ of St. Wenceslaus Church. He felt more at ease here with these simple people whose way of life and local scenery reminded him of his homeland. He was able to compose his most successful work in Spillville, a new symphony which he called "From the New World." It was introduced the following winter in New York and was so popular it was repeated twice more during the same season. This anniversary will be commemorated this August in Spillville, Iowa.

Despite his success in America, Dvorak was growing restless and in 1895 he left the United States and returned to Prague. He became director of the Prague Conservatory in 1901 and held this post until the end of his life May 1, 1904. On May 5th the funeral procession wound its way through Prague and past the Czech National Theatre. Thousands had come from near and far to line the way. Dvorak was laid to rest in a place of honor in Vysehrad Castle cemetery.

THE POWER OF PAWS AND CLAWS

A LITTLE MORE than half of Americans ages 50 to 80 have pets. The rest don’t know what they’re missing, according to the University of Michigan National Poll on Healthy Aging sponsored by AARP and Michigan Medicine.

About 55 percent of the roughly 2,000 people surveyed said they do have a pet. When asked what benefits they receive, they said pet ownership helps them:

Society #11, Cleveland, OH – “Thank you for your generous support to my college education. I will begin working with actual patients and I am extremely excited. This year I will gain additional Occupational Therapy experience working with two young adults with cerebral palsy.”

OLD GEEZERS

"Geezers (slang for an old man) are easy to spot: At sporting events, during the playing of the National Anthem, Old Geezers hold their caps over their hearts and sing without embarrassment. They know the words and believe in them. Old Geezers remembers World War I, the Depression, World War II, Pearl Harbor, Guadalcanal, Normandy and Hitler. They remember the Atomic Age, the Korean War, the Cold War, the Jet Age and the Moon Landing, not to mention Vietnam.

If you bump into an Old Geezer on the sidewalk, he will apologize. If you pass an Old Geezer on the street, he will nod or tip his cap to a lady. Old Geezers trust strangers and are courtly to women.

Old Geezers hold the door for the next person and always, when walking, make certain the lady is on the inside for protection.

Old Geezers get embarrassed if someone curses in front of women and children and they don't like any filth on TV or in movies. Old Geezers have moral courage. They seldom brag unless it's about their grandchildren.

It's the Old Geezers who know our great country is protected, not by politicians or police, but by the young men and women in the military serving our country.

This country needs Old Geezers with their decent values. We need them now more than ever. Thank God for Old Geezers!

God bless the Old Geezers. May it rub off on the young WHIPPERSNAPPERS!!!!

GRANDMA'S WORDS OF WISDOM

I've traveled paths you've yet to walk
Learned lessons old and new
And now this wisdom of my life
I'm blessed to share with you
Let kindness spread like sunshine
Embrace those who are sad
Respect their dignity, give them joy
And leave them feeling glad
Forgive those who might hurt you
And though you have your pride
Listen closely to their viewpoint
Try to see the other side
Walk softly when you're angry
Try not to take offense
Invoke your sense of humor
Laughter's power is immense!
Express what you are feeling
Your beliefs you should uphold
Don't shy away from what is right
Be courageous and be bold
Keep hope right in your pocket
It will guide you day by day
Take it out when it is needed
When it's near, you'll find a way
Remember friends and family
Of which you are a precious part
Love deeply and love truly
Give freely from your heart
The world is far from perfect
There's conflict and there's strife
But you still can make a difference
By how you live your life
And so I'm very blessed to know
The wonders you will do
Because you are my grandchild
And I believe in you.

Fred Malec, lifelong member of St. Joseph Society #156, was Grand Marshall for the Memorial Day Parade in Maple Heights. Accompanying Fred was his great granddaughter, Maggie Koch, also a member of St. Joseph Society, who represented American Legion Post 309 as Miss Buddy Poppy.

Autumn Salad

The mellow colors and flavors of fall found in apples, pears, and pecans combine beautifully in this refreshing tossed salad.

- 1 cup pecan halves or walnut pieces
- 1/4 cup brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 6 cups mixed salad greens
- 1/2 cup dried cranberries
- Dash salt

- 1 large Granny Smith apple
- 1 large red pear
- 3/4 cup shredded mild Parmesan cheese
- 1/2 to 3/4 cup raspberry vinaigrette dressing

In a heavy skillet over low heat, cook and stir nut brown sugar, cinnamon and salt. Remove from heat when sugar has melted. Spread nuts on oil to cool. Core and thinly slice apple and pear, tossing with lemon juice to prevent browning.

When ready to serve, combine salad greens with pear and apple slices, dried cranberries, cheese and nuts. Add Dressing and toss gently.

SAD NEWS

The Pillsbury Doughboy died yesterday of a yeast infection and complications from repeated pokes in the belly. He was 71.

Doughboy was buried in a lightly greased coffin. Dozens of celebrities turned out to pay their respects, including Mrs. Butterworth, Hungry Jack, the California Raisins, Betty Crocker, the Hostess Twinkies and Captain Crunch.

The grave site was piled high with flours. Aunt Jemima delivered the eulogy and lovingly described Doughboy as a man who never knew how much he was kneaded.

Doughboy rose quickly in show business, but his later life was filled with turnovers. He was not considered a very smart cookie, wasting much of his dough on half-baked schemes. Despite being a little flaky at times, he still, as a crusty old man, was considered a roll model for millions.

Doughboy is survived by his wife, Play Dough; two children John Dough and Jane Dough; plus they had one in the oven. He is also survived by his elderly father Pop Tart.

The funeral was held at 3:50 for about 20 minutes.

Wishing a speedy recovery to our Editor-in-Chief, Jane Milczewski. Hurry back, we miss you.

SEPTEMBER IS MUSHROOM MONTH

Mushrooms have been in use for thousands of years. All life on Earth uses the power of mushrooms. They affect all areas of our planetary life cycle.

The fastest organism on this planet is fungi. The oldest and largest living organisms on Earth are fungi. They recently found fungi fossils in Russia, which are 547 million years old.

MUSHROOM CABBAGE

- 1 head cabbage (about 3 pounds)
- 1 large can sauerkraut
- 1 cup ground mushrooms
(Either canned, dry or frozen)
- 1 cup rice (uncooked)
- 2 tablespoons oleo
- 1 medium onion
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- For Sauce and Brown Gravy
- 1 tablespoon shortening
- 1 tablespoon flour

Cut core out of cabbage to loosen leaves. Place cabbage into boiling water for a few minutes. Remove leaves, cut away the thick rib from cabbage leaves. Fry the onions in the oleo until soft, add to mushrooms, rice. Season to taste. Place about 1 teaspoon in each cabbage leaf and roll. Drain sauerkraut, use about half the kraut in the bottom of the pot. Arrange rolls over the kraut, cover the remaining kraut. Fill pot with water, to top off the rolls. Cook slowly for about 2 hours.

Sauce: Brown flour in shortening. Add about a cup of water. Bring to boil, then pour over the cabbage rolls. Cook for just about 5 more minutes.

Wild Mushrooms with Eggs

- 1 pound fresh (wild preferably) mushrooms, sliced
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon crushed caraway seeds
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 6 eggs, beaten

Instructions: Note: Czech Recipes for wild mushrooms will assume they are cleaned and cooked whole or chopped to no less than 1 cm slices. Sauté mushrooms in hot butter with salt, pepper, caraway seeds, and parsley. When liquid from mushrooms has almost evaporated, add beaten eggs and scramble mixture. Makes 4 servings.

Hot Spiced Cranberry Cider

Young and old will enjoy this warming sipper that swirls with spices and citrus notes.

- 1 cup dried cranberries
- 1 lemon, sliced
- 1 teaspoon whole cloves
- 1 teaspoon whole allspice
- 8 to 10 (2-inch) cinnamon sticks
- 1 quart cranberry juice
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 2 cups orange juice
- 1 gallon pasteurized apple cider
- Cinnamon schnapps (optional)

In a square of cheesecloth, tie up cranberries, lemon slices, cloves, allspice and cinnamon sticks. In a non-reactive stockpot, simmer spice bag in cranberry juice for 20 minutes. Remove spice bag. Add brown sugar, orange juice and cider. Heat just to a simmer. Do not boil.

Keep cider warm. Adults may choose to add a splash of cinnamon schnapps to each serving.
